

CALLBACK – Hiccup & Toothless Scene

HICCUP

Okay. I'm sorry. I just... I promise I won't hurt you again.

TOOTHLESS

Why should I trust you?

HICCUP

I know, why should you trust me?

TOOTHLESS

Yeah, that's what I – right. I can hear you; you can't hear me.
Why do I always forget that?

HICCUP

Are you hungry?

(HICCUP pulls an eel out of his satchel.)

TOOTHLESS

Not if it's eel! Ew, yuck, what're you doing?!

HICCUP

You don't like eel?

TOOTHLESS

Blegh, no, they're disgusting and give me the creeps – get it away!

HICCUP

(to himself; processing)
Dragons don't like eels...

TOOTHLESS

(like, "Earth to human!"; still grossed out)
Yes, hello! So put that slimy sucker back in your bag—

(HICCUP puts the eel back in his satchel.)

HICCUP

(at TOOTHLESS, pondering)
There's so much we don't know about you.

TOOTHLESS

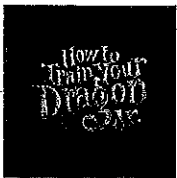

And?

HICCUP

Maybe we can help each other. I work on fixing your tail and getting you back in the air. You teach me about dragons.

TOOTHLESS

(slight beat)
I'm not opposed to this.
